The School Problems.

The failure of the recent "Whirlwind Educational Campaign" was in no sense a surprise to me. There were several conditions that contributed to the lack of interest. The first was that it was promoted at a very busy season; the most, however, seems to me to be that the object was not properly stated. The people as a mass are in favor of education, tax payers are willing to bear a reasonable burden for the benefit of public education. But we have passed to another stage of the question and that is, what is the proper education for our day and time.

Attendance at school has been more or less a bugbear to children in all times, the question of the proper studies have perplexed parents, teachers and school authorities at every step.

What is the proper education, is the question of the hour. Can a system of education be devised that will attract the masses of children and at the same time equip them for social and business life. This system in the first place must provide a busy, happy and helpful child life, in order to become a useful, contented and successful adult life. So great are the attractions of the street, theatre, moving picture shows, baseball, etc., etc., ad infinitum that the school must increase its attractiveness accordingly.

Would manual training, physical, chemical, biological and botanical equipment introduced early in his training attract and interest the boy of scientific turn, so that he would remain in school?

What of bookkeeping, shorthand and typewriting as a means to interest and satisfy the boy who has the business turn?

There is a great problem here for educators and parents to solve. —Sun-Sentinel.

If you want a fine razor—as good as you can buy for $2—call this at office and get one for $1. We also have a few watches, good time keepers, that can be had for $1 each. Don't wait until supply is gone.

Resigned Her Office.

Miss Nannie E. Fields, our county superintendent of common schools, has resigned her office in order that she may accept employment as teacher in the graded common school of West Liberty, which will begin about the first week in September. For more than three and a half years, last past, Miss Fields has been the educational head of the common schools of our county, and during the whole of that time she has devoted her entire time to the discharge of her official duties, and has worked unceasingly for a higher, more practical and more thorough education of all the children in our county. As a result of her earnest work and untiring efforts the standard of education in our county is higher than ever before, and our schools are more prosperous.

Miss Fields is a thorough scholar, a practical educator, a patient teacher. She is a young woman of gentle disposition, of high christian character and we very much fear that it will be a long time before we have another county superintendent who will measure up to the high ideals as fixed by Miss Fields along educational lines.—Morgan Co. News.

Be sure and take a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with you when starting on your trip this summer. It cannot be obtained on board the trains or steamers. The Loafing Business.

My son, follow not into the footsteps of the loafer and make no example of him who is born tired, for verily I say unto you his business is overstocked. The seats on the corners are all taken and the whittling places are all occupied. It is better to saw wood at two bits a cord than whittle at a whittling match and amuse the government. My son, whilst thou hast in thy skull the sense of a jay bird, break away from the cigarette habit, for lo, thy breath stinketh like a glue factory, and thy mind is less intelligent than a store dummy. Yes, thou art a cipher with the rim knocked off.—Robert J. Burdette.

Last week the Sharpsburg World closed its seventeenth year of existence, and it looks as bright and new as ever. In fact, it is just as handsome as "a sweet girl graduate of just sixteen."

Learned men tell us that in Latin the word "editor" means something "to eat." In this section its meaning is altogether different. Here it means to scratch around like blazes to get something to eat.

Indications point to an extremely quiet election in Nicholas county next fall, as it is believed there will be only one ticket in the field. The Republicans say they will make no nominations for county offices.

The Democrats of Wolfe county are requested to meet at the court house in Campton next Saturday, August 14, for the purpose of selecting a candidate for Representative of the 91st Legislative district, composed of the counties of Morgan and Wolfe. A full attendance is desired.

The life of an editor was saved the other day by a silver dollar in his pocket. A crank shot at him and the ball struck the dollar. Now should we happen to get shot before you pay up your subscription and there is no dollar to stop the ball we shall always presume you might have saved our life.

When the digestion is all right, the action of the bowels regular, there is a natural craving and relish for food. "If you are a kicker and see the shadows of failure in everything that is proposed to help the town, for heaven's sake go into some secluded canyon and kick your own shadow on the clay bank, and give the men who are working to build up the town a chance. One long-faced, hollow-eyed, whining carping, chronic kicker can do more to keep away business and capital from a town than all the drouths, short crops, chinch bugs, cyclones and blizzards combined."—Ex.

The above is especially applicable to those who are just now retarding development of this section by their refusal to grant the right of way to the Mountain Central and they must realize that their neighbors see them just as they are portrayed above. Can they afford to continue to stand in their own light and against their friends by kicking? We believe not.

The Revised Tariff Bill.

The tariff bill has been revised and the extraordinary session of congress has been brought to a close. The president after signing the bill added a postscript "signed five minutes after 5 o'clock, August 5, 1909. W. H. T." Following are the leading features of the new tariff bill:

A New Scheme For Revenue.

A new scheme of government revenue has been devised by Representative Fisson, of Mississippi, and he feels confident that its adoption would bring millions into the treasury. He believes also that it would add materially to the average length of human life in this country. His scheme is to levy a tax of $2 and 25 per cent ad valorem on every revolver, dirk, stiletto, bowie knife or a pair of metal knuckles manufactured in or imported into this country. He proposes that there be a tax of one-fifth a cent each on cartridges according to size.
"I estimate," he says, "that the tax on weapons would produce about $1,500,000 and on cartridges $500,000 a year."
"There's no use for a pistol or stiletto but to kill. Those who use them cause the government much expense and there is no reason why they should not contribute to the treasury. Tobacco, whisky and cards are subject to taxation and it would be well enough to add an assessment on the owners of deadly weapons. It would be better to tax pistols and not plows, cartridges and not corn planters."

In buying a cough medicine, don't be afraid to get Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. There is no danger from it, and relief is sure to follow. Especially recommended for coughs, colds and whooping cough. Sold by all dealers.

FIVE FELL BELOW STANDARD.

Forty-Seven Took the Bar Examination at Austin.

Edna, Texas, Aug. 2, '09.
Spencer Cooper, Hazel Green, Ky.
Dear Sir: Enclosed herewith you will find a clipping which may be of some news interest to some of your readers. This article appeared in the Galveston News of July 28.

Many thanks for the kind mention you made of me in a recent edition of your paper. With best wishes, I remain,
Very truly yours,

E. T. ROSE.

Austin, Tex., July 27.—Out of forty-seven who took the last bar examination here under the State Board of Legal Examiners, only five fell below the required standard and will not get their licenses. The highest grade made was that of E. T. Rose, of Campton, Ky., who has been attending the State University at Austin, his average being 92.7-9. The man closest behind him was John A. Hancock, of Jasper, who averaged 92.3-3. The successful applicants were Huling P. Robertson, Jr., Temple; Chester B. Collins, Lufkin; Thornton H. Bowers, Caldwell; Sam R. Sayers, Lufkin; Henry S. Groesbeck, San Antonio; Robert W. Cowen, Mart; W. E. J. Holmes, Wylie; William F. Duncan; Lewis H. Jones, Burnett; Frank Willford, Jr., Houston; A. C. Wood, Huntsville; V. B. Goar, Johnson City; John A. Holmes, Bonham; Jesse C. Shipman, Hamilton; J. M. Brown, Fort Worth; E. T. Rose, Campton, Ky.; Ira C. Ogden, San Antonio; Leon Harp, San Angelo; W. D. Taylor, Waco; Clyde A. Williams, Niles; Wayne Davis, Goliad; J. P. Parris, Palacios; J. L. Webb, Comahoma; Chas. K. Bullard, Hamilton; Alfred S. John, Dallas; Guy N. Williams, Farmersville; John Davenport, Weatherford; John A. Hancock, Jasper; George H. McLaren, Graham; J. O. Lockett, Cleburne; T. J. Saunders, San Marcos; J. Oran Carter, Ennis; M. F. Cate, Terrell; W. H. Stewart, West; D. B. Tremmell, Jr., Fort Worth; A. D. Dyers, Holland; G. E. Lockhart, Gomez; W. P. Saunders, Waco; W. W. Alcorn, Montague; George D. Sears, Houston; Wm. L. Evans, Sherman, and A. Moodie, Fort Worth.

It is noticeable that these men come from all portions of the state and that a large number of them are students of the law school of the State University, who have not yet completed their work in that institution.

On motion it was ordered that all the Democratic newspapers of the district be requested to publish these proceedings.

Do You Get Up

With a Lame Back?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everyone knows of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because of its remarkable health restoring properties. Swamp-Root cures almost every wish in over-coming rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and sealding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night.

Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble, it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been thoroughly tested in private practice, and has proved so successful that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble.

When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Home of Swamp-Root, Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all druggists. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Five Years

of Heart Trouble Cured by Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy

"Before I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy I had been suffering from heart trouble for over five years. I had pains in my left side, and under my shoulder blade, could not sleep on the left side, and was so short of breath the least exertion would bring on the most distressing palpitation. I had scarcely taken a half bottle of the Heart Remedy before I could see a marked change in my condition. When I had taken six bottles I was cured."

MRS. C. C. GORKEY,

Northfield, Va.

If there is fluttering or palpitation it is an indication of a weakness of the nerves and muscles of the heart. It is not necessarily diseased—just weak from over-work. The heart may be weak just the same as the eyes, stomach or other organs. You can make a weak heart strong by taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy. Get a bottle from your druggist, take it according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

Does Not Color Hair

Ayer's Hair Vigor, as now made from our new improved formula, does not stain or color the hair even to the slightest degree. Gray hair, white hair, blonde hair is not made a shade darker. But it certainly does stop falling hair. No question about that.

Does not change the color of the hair.
Formula with each bottle
Show it to your doctor
Ask him about it,
then do as he says

Indeed, we believe it will stop every case of falling hair unless there is some very unusual complication, something greatly affecting the general health. Then you should consult your physician. Also ask him about the new Ayer's Hair Vigor.

Mrs. Jessie Ann Clark has been on the sick list.

Miss Iva Weekly, who has been sick for the past week, is able to be out again.

John B. Polk and wife, nee Miss Sue Godsey, of Frankfort, are visiting Hon. W. O. Mize.

Tom Daniel, of West Liberty, was in town Saturday night, and sold tickets for the play.

The primary classes of both Sunday schools held a picnic at Sulphur Springs Tuesday.

Burns Elam, who is teaching school in Breathitt county, visited home folks Saturday night.

Mrs. B. P. Ambrose and son, Luther, of Berea, are visiting Prof. Roberts and family this week.

Mrs. Lou Day and daughter, Mrs. Emma Evans, left Monday for a two weeks' visit at Lexington and Richmond.

Mrs. Pearl Back, who went to Niagara Falls last week, came home Saturday evening, much delighted with her outing.

Rev. Bicknell will preach at the Ward school house, on Blackwater, Saturday night and Sunday morning next. All are invited.

Prof. Roberts closed a ten days' meeting at Insko Sunday, and left yesterday to attend the institute at Beattyville, Lee county.

The Roberts family and Mrs. Ambrose, who is visiting them, were pleasantly entertained at the home of Ellis Johnson Tuesday.

Wayne Long, who started for Tennessee last week, was detained at Jackson to pitch ball for their team in the games which have been advertised.

Mrs. Lou Day and her daughter, Mrs. Emma Evans, left Monday for Lexington, where they will take in the big Blue Grass Fair this week and visit relatives and friends meanwhile.

The Brewer well, at the foot of Laurel hill, developed a small amount of gas, but no oil. It was shot Saturday in the hope of increasing the supply of gas, but with what result we have not learned.

Bill Foreman, one of the men engaged in drilling the Brewer well and who aided in shooting it Saturday, says that it is one of the strongest, if not the strongest, gas wells that has been brought in in this section.

Sam Wilson spent last Wednesday night on his farm on Murphy fork and came back to town the following morning bringing with him a basket filled with luscious tomatoes and toothsome beans. He claims that he raised them, but if he did, he raised them from Mrs. Lizzie Cecil's truck patch early in the morning.

George Rice was visiting his son George, Jr., Sunday last, and says he found him still unable to work. Indeed, he is suffering all the time with something like kidney and stomach trouble. George is a model young farmer and has many friends in his own neighborhood, all of whom would be pleased to hear the glad news that he is well again. He is despondent over his condition, and if his friends will encourage him it will go far toward renewing his energy and health.

Fred J. Heintz, the manufacturing jeweler of Lexington, recently repaired a gold pen for the editor of this paper, and we desire to say that the work is in line with everything he turns out, and that means first class. He has a large trade in this section and all will bear out when we say that he always renders entire satisfaction. Send him your order for anything in his line.

Elmer, Roy and Stella Craven, three of the children of John W. Craven, deceased, will leave Friday or Saturday for Lexington, where they expect to find homes. His oldest daughter, Miss Del, is there now, and Charley, the youngest, will go to the Masonic Widows' and Orphans' Home, at Louisville, though it is probable he will go to Lexington with the other children.

Lee Caskey and wife, of Grassy Creek, will leave Monday for a three months' visit in the west and northwest. Their itinerary includes the states of Iowa, Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri. They have relatives living at Buford, Iowa; Sentinel, Okla.; Parker, Kansas, and in Missouri, and anticipate a royal time, in which their friends join in the hope.

Hon. Malone Lykins, who is a candidate for the Legislature in this (91st) district, passed through here Monday en route to Campton. The race seems to have narrowed down to two aspirants only, the other one being Capt. Bill Perry. The mass convention to nominate will be called at Campton and West Liberty Saturday.

Judge Adams and Kelly Kash were at the big meeting on Stillwater Sunday shaking hands and fixing their fences for the November election. But they are laboring in vain this time if the signs of the times read aright. The next judicial officers are likely to be from the Democratic family.

Teachers' Institute Resolutions.

In order that the public may have a more general understanding of our labors, and hoping to arouse a greater interest for the cause of education, now, therefore, we, the Public School teachers of Wolfe county, Kentucky, in Institute at Campton assembled, do publish the following resolutions:

1st—Resolved, That we approve of the time, place and manner of holding this Institute, and we extend to the citizens of the town of Campton our appreciation for the generosity and hospitality which they have extended to us while in their midst; and we further extend to them our thanks and appreciation for the interest they have manifested in the attendance thereof, and for the valuable suggestions that many of them have made during the sessions of our Institute.

2nd—Resolved, That, realizing the high responsibilities resting upon our worthy superintendent, and the many complex and intricate questions arising before him for solution, in appreciation of the happy and satisfactory manner in which he has met and disposed of every serious problem and discharged every duty, we extend to him our unbounded gratitude and congratulations; and we heartily approve, especially, of his wise and proper choice of an instructor for this Institute.

3rd—Resolved, That we are delighted to have the services of such a ripe scholar, unbiased instructor, broad and liberal minded educator and patriotic citizen as Prof. J. W. Dinsmore, of Berea College, and believe him to have few equals and no superiors as an Institute instructor; and we also very highly appreciate the presence of Mrs. Dinsmore and the valuable and cultured talks which she has given the Institute.

4th—Resolved, That we appreciate the services of our most efficient secretary, Miss Rose Coldiron, and of our accomplished and cultured musician, Miss Stella Manker.

5th—Resolved, That, deploring the fact that our own dear Kentucky occupies an unenviable position in the sisterhood of American states, educationally, and realizing that every teacher and every citizen in the state has a high duty to perform in raising the standard of education, we believe it to be the best interest of all and to be the surest and quickest method to advance our educational interests among the people at large to have enacted and enforced such a compulsory school educational law as will reach both pupil and parent and will force a uniform attendance in our public schools of all children between the ages of 6 and 14 years for at least three months regular attendance, annually.

6th—Resolved, That we heartily recommend an extension of the school term throughout the state from six months to seven months, annually, believing that the present per capita is reasonably sufficient to compensate the teacher for such extension.

7th—Resolved, That, being conscious of the great educational awakening throughout Kentucky, we will put forth all our best efforts to aid in the great educational movement, and will do our utmost to advance the day and hour when intelligence shall be the goal of the youth's ambition, and we pledge ourselves jointly and severally to do our most to keep abreast of the best and most approved methods of teaching.

8th—Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be published in the HAZEL GREEN HERALD, the Breathitt County News and the Southern School Journal, J. E. CHILDERS, BESSIE LEE HOLLON, MARY E. FAULKNER, Committee on Resolutions.

Resolutions of Respect.

Hall of Mizpah Lodge, No. 507, F. & A. M.

Hazel Green, Ky., Aug. 5, 1909.

It seems that it was the will and pleasure of the Grand Master of the Universe to remove from the transitory scenes of this earthly existence to a state of endless duration our beloved Brother John W. Craven, who responded to the summons of the death angel who invaded the portals of our temple on the 21st day of June, 1909, and called for Brother Craven, who immediately answered the call by laying aside his trowel and the temporal trestle board to take them up again in that spiritual temple above whose builder and maker is God; Therefore be it resolved, 1st—That in the death of Brother John W. Craven the fraternity has lost a true and zealous Mason; the church a consistent member; the community an honorable citizen, and his family a devoted husband and loving father.

2nd—That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the lodge and a copy be sent to the Masonic Home Journal and the HAZEL GREEN HERALD for publication and a copy sent to the family of the deceased.

JOHN WARD, G. W. WHEELER, R. H. PATTON, Committee.

Mrs. B. S. Parker, of Paris; Mrs. T. B. Robertson, Mrs. Sarah Campbell and Mrs. Fowler, of Mayslick, are the late arrivals at the Swango House.

Misses Ora Campbell, Sue Long, Frances Nickell, Estella Coldiron, Grover Sebastian and others joined the hay ride and took in the play, "Gyp," at Campton Wednesday night of last week.

KENTUCKY KERNELS

Carefully Collated and Concisely Chronicled.

Lewis and Mason counties were visited by a severe hail and wind storm last Thursday and about 60 per cent of the growing tobacco was destroyed.

During a religious meeting at Dunaway Chapel, in Clark county, Napoleon B. Devary shot and killed Harvey Ewing. Devary claims self-defense.

Ike C. Smith, former gambler and saloon keeper of Louisville, who received twenty-five knife wounds in his body, died in a hospital without divulging the name of his assailant.

As a result of too much curiosity in the handling and examination of an old revolver, George Miles, a negro boy aged about 16 years and a resident of the negro suburb of Paris, is dead with a bullet hole through the brain.

Alpheus Ring, foreman of Hagemeyer saw mill, at Butler, in Pendleton county, escaped a fatal injury the other day. He was caught by the shafting and was nearing his death when his light summer clothing gave way and his life saved.

As the result of injuries sustained three years ago while guarding a prisoner James Welsh; a Louisville policeman, died at his home last week. The prisoner in attempting to make his escape struck Welsh a heavy blow in the stomach.

Governor Willson last week refused to pardon a number of Lawrence and Leslie county convicts so they could go home and vote at the Republican primaries. His reasons were that "convicts who happen to be Republicans are not all 'good' Republicans."

George Sizemore committed suicide last week at Gullett, in Magoffin county, by jumping into a well head foremost and dashing out his brains. He was a brother to Polk Sizemore who committed suicide in Morgan county about six months ago by shooting himself.

While digging a trench at the Washington creamery, in Mason county, workmen unearthed an old tin can which contained $75 in gold. The coins bear dates preceding the civil war and it is thought that the money was buried by parties who lived on the premises during the war.

A barn on the farm of Stokes Highfield, in Pendleton county, was struck by lightning in a recent storm and burned to the ground. A lot of hay and potatoes in the barn were destroyed. Mrs. G. W. Ballenger, Jr., of the same neighborhood, had a valuable horse killed by lightning while grazing in a field.

While driving a two-year-old mare to a break cart, near Paris, the animal became frightened at some obstruction and made a dash to get away when her driver, John Wiggins, held her in check, the mare rearing up and falling backwards, breaking her neck. Mr. Wiggins was uninjured though the horse came near falling on him.

During an electrical storm in Richmond, last Thursday, three buildings in different parts of the city were fired by lightning at nearly the same moment. The fire department fought all three at intervals, thus saving adjoining property. Stanifer & Sopher, clothing merchants on Main street, a big livery and feed barn, and a dwelling house in the negro section were the losses.

Andrew Coons, a prominent farmer of Daviess county, was instantly killed by lightning last week. He was standing near a threshing machine with a crowd of men in a field when a flash caused Walter Cook, on whose farm the men had just completed threshing and were preparing to pull up, to be knocked to the ground but was uninjured. Mr. Coons, who was standing near by, received the full shock and was instantly killed.

Executive clemency was extended to the Rev. W. E. Honeycut, of Jackson county, who moved from Ohio to Kentucky and performed a marriage ceremony without first taking out a license to do so, as required by the Kentucky statutes. As soon as the minister learned that he had violated the law, he went to the county judge and filed bond to answer to the charge, but the records do not show that he has been tried or even indicted.

Judge Walker Parker, in the Circuit court at Lexington last week, handed down a decision in which it is adjudged that the election held in that city November 5, 1907, at which Governor Willson and other state officials, as well as 26 officials of the city of Lexington, were voted for, is declared to be void. The decision, however, affects only the offices of Mayor John B. Skain, City Assessor John B. Doyle, City Attorney Wallace Muir and City Jailor John Masner, the other Republican contestants failing to have their pleas in readiness within the 60 days after the time of filing their petitions as the law requires.

THE STATE FAIR

Kentucky People All Agog Over Coming Event.

A HANDSOME PRIZE LIST

Thirty Thousand Dollars Offered in Prizes for Week of September 13th to 18th.

Details of Some of the Chief Attractions to Be Presented This Year.

Thirty thousand dollars makes a very handsome prize list. This amount will be offered at the Seventh annual Kentucky State Fair, which is scheduled for the week of September 13th to 18th, inclusive. The marvelous piece of work accomplished in the incomparably short time of three months last season, in which the largest, most useful and most beautiful show pavilion in the world, and a permanent grand stand of steel and concrete construction were erected, a model half mile race track was built, and some forty or more buildings of a more temporary nature, for the housing of all livestock, agricultural, horticultural exhibits, etc., were completed, is fresh in the minds of those who witnessed last year's exhibition. With the addition of beautiful road ways, flower beds and installation of electric lights in the pavilion for the use of horse show and hippodrome performances in the evening, the grounds will present a grander and more brilliant spectacle this year. In nearly every department, the number of classes have been increased and more liberal prizes are offered. This is especially true in the beef, cattle and poultry departments, in each of which the total money offered is probably thirty per cent larger than last year.

The special prizes are much more attractive and represent a greater value than ever before. The honor and prestige of winning many of these trophies is infinitely greater than the intrinsic value of the prize itself. The specials listed include the "Highland Home" cup, which is donated by Gay Bros. of Glasgow, Ky., for the best and finest saddle bred foal of 1909; the American saddle horse breeders' association trophy for registered stallion or mare three years old or under; the Montgomery chief special of $125 offered by Ball Bros., Versailles, Ky., for the finest and best stallion, mare or gelding any age by Montgomery; Chief, the $1,000 Kentucky farmer's saddle horse futurity for saddle bred foals of 1909, the only saddle horse futurity in existence, which closed April 1st with 225 nominations; the commissioner of agriculture saddle horse special, value at $200 for the best five galloped saddle stallion, mare or gelding three years old or over; a handsome cup for the champion roadster, given by Mr. Basil Doerhoefer of Louisville; the Dr. McChord cup for the best herd of jack stock offered by Mr. W. P. Hayes of Bloomfield, Ky.; the grand silver trophy offered by the American Berkshire Swine Association for best young herd of Berkshires exhibited by Kentucky breeder, which is the coveted honor of the show among Berkshire breeders in every state; an aggregate sum of nearly $400 given by Commissioner Rankin for all the leading standard varieties of poultry; a silver cup donated by Mr. F. H. Behring for best exhibit of Kentucky bred poultry; specials by the Southdown, Hampshire and Oxford Sheep Record Association for exhibits of pure-bred sheep they respectively champion; and the American Angora Goat Breeders' Association special for the best flock of registered Angora kids.

In the cattle departments the money consideration for specials is the greatest and the classification most extensive. The American Shorthorn Breeders' Association and the American Hereford Cattle Breeders' Association have each donated $750 for pure bred cattle of these respective breeds, one-half to be given in open competition and one-half to cattle owned by Kentucky exhibitors. These offers were made on condition that the State Fair management would set apart $1,000 in premiums for each of these breeds, which was done, thereby making a total of $1,750 for each breed. This is the largest amount ever offered for either Shorthorns or Herefords at any state fair or exposition south of the Ohio river, and perhaps equals the aggregate prize money at any exhibition in America this year with the exception of the national breed shows. The Polled Durham Association of America renews its offer of $100 in special prizes for Polled Durhams. The American Aberdeen Angus Breeders' Association, for the first time in several years, comes forward with a very liberal offer of $200 in specials for its breed. As a very gratifying innovation in the prize list, the Dairy Cattle Department contains some valuable specials. Through the generous liberality of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, the State Fair management has been enabled to double the amount of prize money for this dairy breed and to place its classification almost on a par with the Jersey, which has been the favorite dairy breed in the south ever since its importation to this country, and the Kentucky Jersey cattle club will give a cup valued at $50.00 for the best Jersey herd of one bull and four heifers under one year old, bred by a Kentucky exhibitor. There are also numerous specials offered by Hon. M. C. Rankin, commissioner of agricultural departments, the most prominent of which are for county exhibits, $150,000 being offered for the best and largest display of farm, garden and orchard products. This has been a very interesting and educational feature at many of the leading state fairs for a number of years and will undoubtedly prove a success and boon to agricultural interest of Kentucky.

Superintendents of Departments at the Kentucky State Fair.

As usual most experienced and capable superintendents of departments have been appointed. R. H. Lillard, of Lawrenceburg, has for the third time been chosen superintendent of the horse department, and William Simmons, of Shepherdsville, will again be in charge of the mule exhibit. W. R. Moorman, Jr., of Glendene, is superintendent of beef cattle and Edgar Vaughn, of Shelbyville, will for the eighth consecutive year be superintendent in the dairy cattle department. Other superintendents reappointed, are Colonel H. L. Igleheart, of Morganfield, swine department; W. B. Middleton of Shelbyville, sheep and goats; John H. Good, of Louisville, poultry and pigeons; H. C. Lovelace of Boston, field seed and grain; H. M. Froman, of Ghent, tobacco; Miss Evelyn Porter, of Louisville, woman's department; G. P. Rogers, of Smithland, farm implements and machinery; Prof. J. J. Hooper, of Lexington, students' judging contest, and H. L. Smyser, of Lyndon, speed department. Chas. Sholtz, Jr., of Louisville, is superintendent of vegetables and melons; Henry S. Adams, Eminence, of Horticulture; W. E. Bibb, North Pleasureville, of plants and flowers; and Lucien Beckner, Winchester, of minerals and forestry. The assistant superintendents have also been named: for poultry and pigeons, W. B. Buford, of Nicholasville, and Robert H. Young, of Louisville; for vegetables and melons, J. A. Peake, Livia; for field seed and grain, Geo. D. Karsner, of Lexington; for horticulture, M. F. Johnson, of Buochel; for woman's department, Miss Eva McGrew, of Bayou, and Miss Alice Porter, of Louisville.

Heads of Departments of the Kentucky State Fair.

There are eighteen exhibit departments, which have been placed under the head of the various members of the state board of agriculture as follows: M. C. Rankin, of Frankfort, poultry and pigeons, plants and flowers and student's judging contest; Prof. M. A. Scovall of Lexington, beef cattle, dairy cattle and colts dogs; G. N. McGrew, of Bayou, woman's department, farm implements and machinery, manufactured products; H. M. Beard, of Hardinsburg, sheep and goats and vegetables and melons; Guthrie M. Wilson, Bradstown, horses, mules and jack stock, speed department; Caldwell Norton, Louisville, swine; Dasha Breckenridge, Lexington, education and art; William Addams, of Cynthiaana, field seed and grain and tobacco; Fred R. Blackburn, Stanton, horticulture, forestry and minerals.

Kentucky State Fair Races.

Horse racing will be a greater attraction than ever at the State Fair this year. At last year's fair it was demonstrated that a successful harness race meeting could be held on these grounds. The popularity of the sport was never more pronounced. Unusually fast time was made on the new half-mile track which has come to be regarded as one of the best half-mile courses in America. At the meeting last year the grand stand and the grounds adjacent to it were thronged by a surging mass of humanity every afternoon, eager to see every heat in every race, and not until the summary of the last race was hung up did the interest cease or enthusiasm dwindle.

The Kentuckians by nature has a fondness for horse racing. An opportunity for seeing his favorite sport will not be denied him at this year's fair. The early closing events show the largest list of entries ever recorded at the State Fair. These events are known as the Louisville Retail Merchants Association stake for 2:21 pacers, the Louisville Commercial Club stake for 2:20 trotters, and the Kentucky Brewers Association stake for 2:20 trotters. In addition to the stake races, there will be six purse and four gentlemen's road races. Purses entries close Sept. 6th. Entries for the cup race at twelve o'clock noon, the day before the race. The stake races will be on the three in five heat plan and the purse races on the two in three heat plan. There will also be two running races each day. This is destined to become one of the most popular training tracks in the country. This meeting fits into a very convenient circuit by following the Indiana State Fair and proceeding the Tennessee State Fair which is the initial meeting of the southern circuit of fairs and trotting meetings. The success of this year's meeting is already assured by the excellent list of stake entries, and the management is quite confident that the management races will fill satisfactorily.

CHAPTER XIII.

JIM was slow tonight. The big show was nearly over, yet many of the props used in the early part of the bill were still unloaded.

He was tinkering absentmindedly with one of the wagons in the back lot, and the men were standing about idly waiting for orders when Barker came out of the main tent and called to him sharply.

"Hey, there, Jim! What's your excuse tonight?"

"Excuse for what?" Jim crossed slowly to Barker.

"The cook tent was started half an hour late, and the sideshow top ain't loaded yet."

"Your wagon is on the bum; that's what! No. 38 carries the cook tent, and the blacksmith has been tinkering with it all day. Ask him what shape it's in."

"You're always stallin'," was Barker's sullen complaint. "It's the wagons or the blacksmiths or anything but the truth. I know what's the matter. All right."

"What do you mean by that?" asked Jim sharply.

"I mean that all your time's took up a-carryin' and a-fetchin' for that girl what calls you 'Muvver Jim.'"

"What have you got to say about her?" Jim eyed him with a threatening look.

"I got a plenty," said Barker as he turned to snap his whip at the small boys who had stolen into the back lot to peek under the rear edge of the big top. "She's been about as much good as a stick since she come back. You saw her act last night."

"Yes," answered Jim doggedly.

"Wasn't it punk? She didn't show at all this afternoon; said she was sick. And me with all them people inside what knowed her waitin' to see her?"

"Give her a little time," Jim pleaded. "She ain't rode for a year."

"Time!" shouted Barker. "How much does she want? She's been back a month, and instead of bracin' up she's a-gettin' worse. There's only one thing for me to do."

"What's that?" asked Jim unasily.

"I'm goin' to call her, and call her hard."

"Look here, Barker," and Jim squared his shoulders as he looked steadily at the other man, "you're boss here, and I takes orders from you, but if I catches you abusin' Polly your bein' boss won't make no difference."

"You can't bluff me!" shouted Barker. "I ain't bluffin'. I'm only tellin' you," said Jim very quietly.

"Well, you tell her to get on to her job. If she don't, she quits; that's all." He hurried into the ring.

Jim took one step to follow him, then stopped and gazed at the ground with thoughtful eyes. He, too, had seen the change in Polly. He had tried to rouse her. It was no use. She had looked at him blankly. "If she would only complain," he said to himself; "if she would only get mad, anything, anything to wake her." But she did not complain. She went through her daily routine very humbly and quietly. She sometimes wondered how Jim could talk so much about her work, but before she could answer the question her mind drifted back to other days, to a garden and flowers, and Jim stole away unmissed and left her with folded hand and wide, staring eyes, gazing into the distance.

"Star gazin', Polly?" he asked.

The memory of these times made Jim helpless tonight. He had gone on hoping from day to day that Barker might not notice the "let down" in her work, and now the blow had fallen. How could he tell her?

One of the acts came tumbling out of the main tent. There was a moment's confusion as clowns, acrobats and animals passed each other on their way to and from the ring; then the lot cleared again, and Polly came slowly from the dressing tent. She looked very different from the little girl whom Jim had led away from the parson's garden in a simple white frock one month before. Her thin, pensive face contrasted oddly with her glittering attire. Her hair was knotted high on her head and intertwined with flowers and jewels. Her slender neck seemed scarcely able to support its burden. Her short, full skirt and low cut bodice were ablaze with white and colored stones.

"What's on, Jim?" she asked. "The 'leap o' death.' You got plenty of time."

Polly's mind went back to the girl who answered that call a year ago. Her spirit seemed very near tonight. The band stopped playing. Barker made his grandiloquent announcement about the wonderful act about to be seen, and her eyes wandered to the distant church steeple. The moonlight seemed to shun it tonight. It looked cold and grim and dark. She wondered whether the solemn bell that once called its flock to worship had become as mute as her own dead heart. She did not hear the whir of the great machine inside the tent as it plunged through space with its girl occupant. These things were a part of the daily routine, part of the strange, vague dream through which she must stumble for the rest of her life.

Jim watched her in silence. Her face was turned from him. She had forgotten his presence.

"Star gazin', Polly?" he asked at length, dreading to disturb her reverie. "I guess I was, Jim." She turned to him with a little, forced smile. He longed to save her from Barker's threatened rebuke.

"How yop feelin' tonight?"

"I'm all right," she answered cheerfully.

"Anything you want?"

"Want?" She turned upon him with startled eyes. There was so much that she wanted that the mere mention of the word had opened a well of pain in her heart.

"I mean can I do anything for you?"

"Oh, of course not." She remembered how little any one could do.

"What is it, Polly?" he begged, but she only turned away and shook her head with a sigh. He followed her with anxious eyes. "What made you cut out the show today? Was it because you didn't want to ride afore folks what knowed you—ride afore him mebbe?"

"Him?" Her face was white. Jim feared she might swoon. "You don't mean that he was—"

"Oh, no," he answered quickly, "of course not. Parsons don't come to places like this one. I was only figurin' that yop didn't want other folks to see an' tell him how you was ridin'."

"Was that it, Polly?" he urged.

"I don't know." She stared into space.

"Was it?"

"I guess it was," she said after a long time.

"I knowed it!" he cried. "I was a fool to 'a' brung you back! You don't belong with us no more."

"Oh, don't, Jim! Don't! Don't make me feel I'd in the way here too!"

"Here too?" He looked at her in astonishment. "You wasn't in his way, was you, Polly?"

"Yes, Jim." She saw his look of unbelief and continued hurriedly: "Oh, I tried not to be! I tried so hard. He used to read me verses out of a Bible about my way being his way and my people his people, but it isn't so, Jim. Your way is the way you are born, and your people are the people you are born with, and you can't change it, Jim, no matter how hard you try."

"You was changin' it," he answered savagely. "You was gettin' jes' like them people. It was me what took you away an' spoiled it all. You oughtn't to 'a' come. What made you after you said you wouldn't?"

She did not answer. Strange things were going through the mind of the slow witted Jim. He braced himself for a difficult question.

"Will you answer me somethin' straight?" he asked.

"Why, of course," she said as she met his gaze.

"Do you love the parson, Polly?"

She started.

"Is that it?"

Her lids fluttered and closed; she caught her breath quickly, her lips apart, then looked far into the distance.

"Yes, Jim, I'm afraid that's it." The little figure drooped, and she stood before him with lowered eyes, unarmed. Jim looked at her helplessly, then shook his big, stupid head.

"Ain't that b—?"

It seemed such a short time to Jim since he had picked her up, a cooling babe, at her dead mother's side. He watched the tender, averted face. Things had turned out so differently from what he had planned.

"An' he don't care about you—like that?" he asked after a pause.

"No, not in that way." She was anxious to defend the pastor from even the thought of such a thing. "He was good and kind always, but he didn't care that way. He's not like that."

"I guess I'll have a talk with him," said Jim, and he turned to go.

"Talk!" she cried.

He stopped and looked at her in astonishment. It was the first time that he had ever heard that sharp note in her voice. Her tiny figure was stiffened with decision. Her eyes were blazing.

"If you ever dare to speak to him—about me, you'll never see me again."

Jim was perplexed.

"I mean it, Jim. I've made my choice, and I've come back to you. If you ever try to fix up things between him and me, I'll run away—really and truly away—and you'll never, never get me back."

He shuffled awkwardly to her side and reached apologetically for the little clinched fist. He held it in his big rough hand, toying nervously with the tiny fingers.

"I wouldn't do nothin' that you wasn't a-wantin', Polly. I was just a-tryin' to help you, only I—I never seem to know how."

She turned to him with tear dimmed eyes and rested her hands on his great, broad shoulders, and he saw the place where he dwelt in her heart.

There was a large crowd at old Stillwater church house Sunday. This was their regular communion and foot washing day.

A. F. Byrd, an attorney of Winchester; James P. Adams, circuit judge of Beattyville, and Kelly Kash, commonwealth's attorney of Jackson, were at church here Sunday.

D. B. Tyra and his two boys left today for Menifee county with teams to haul back some piping and other supplies for the gas well, which was drilled last week on the Brewer farm.

Phorus Brewer while tramping logs for Rev. Jeff Brewer on Dog creek, near Pine Ridge, one day last week, had a log roll over his body. At first it was thought he was killed and was unconscious for a while, but upon investigation he was not so seriously mangled as to not get well. He was brought to his father's, Wm. Brewer, at Trent, Sunday, and is improving.

The well which it has been hoped to be a good oil producer on the Brewer farm was drilled in Friday, the 6th inst., and was a dry hole as far as the oil question goes, but Saturday evening the well was shot, and the result of the shooting was that a splendid gas producing well was brought in, and it is thought that in the near future there will be some more holes dug on the same farm with a view of opening up a good gas field.

Washington's Plague Spots

lie in the low, marshy bottoms of the Potomac, the breeding ground of malaria germs. These germs cause chills, fever and ague, biliousness, jaundice, lassitude, weakness and general debility, and bring suffering or death to thousands yearly. But Electric Bitters never fail to destroy them and cure malaria troubles. "They are the best all-round tonic and cure for malaria I ever used," writes R. M. James, of Louellen, S. C. They cure stomach, liver, kidney and blood troubles and will prevent typhoid. Try them, 50c. Guaranteed by all dealers.

The School Problems.

The failure of the recent "Whirlwind Educational Campaign" was in no sense a surprise to me. There were several conditions that contributed to the lack of interest. The first was that it was promoted at a very busy season; the most, however, seems to me to be that the object was not properly stated. The people as a mass are in favor of education, tax payers are willing to bear a reasonable burden for the benefit of public education. But we have passed to another stage of the question and that is, what is the proper education for our day and time.

Attendance at school has been more or less a bugbear to children in all times, the question of the proper studies have perplexed parents, teachers and school authorities at every step.

What is the proper education, is the question of the hour. Can a system of education be devised that will attract the masses of children and at the same time equip them for social and business life. This system in the first place must provide a busy, happy and helpful child life, in order to become a useful, contented and successful adult life. So great are the attractions of the street, theatre, moving picture shows, baseball, etc., etc., ad infinitum that the school must increase its attractiveness accordingly.

The call to business life is so strong and the demand for "spending money" so great that ninety per cent of the boys quit before the high school is reached. The sad part is that he has learned no trade and has not even discovered his talents and calling.

Would manual training, physical, chemical, biological and botanical equipment introduced early in his training attract and interest the boy of scientific turn, so that he would remain in school?

What of bookkeeping, shorthand and typewriting as a means to interest and satisfy the boy who has the business turn?

There is a great problem here for educators and parents to solve.—Sun-Sentinel.

If you want a fine razor—as good as you can buy for $2—call this at office and get one for $1. We also have a few watches, good time keepers, that can be had for $1 each. Don't wait until supply is gone.

Say what you please, we all like foolishness more than we should.

Stray Shots.

The Illinois farmers have fine crops and will get a big price for grain.

Mrs. J. Will Miller, of Paris, Ill., is at Seattle, Wash., for the summer.

Mort Swango and wife, of Butte, Mont., took their vacation in the mountains of Idaho.

Mrs. W. J. Overstreet, of New York, has been visiting friends at Terre Haute, Ind., and Paris, Ill.

T. J. Stevenson (Red Jeff) is now at Rhomex, Texas, farming. All his children except the youngest boy are married and live in the Lone Star State. Jeff says his part of Texas has been very dry and crops poor.

Nathan Rose, of Hazel Green, Ky., and son of David Rose, who graduated this year from Butler college, Indianapolis, has been elected professor of mathematics at Carthage, Mo. Nathan immediately after graduation was appointed deputy fish and game examiner of Indiana. Friday he received the school position, and tendered his resignation to the game commissioner to take effect September 5. He will begin teaching September 13, and before then will spend a few days in Fremont, Ohio.

Resigned Her Office.

Miss Nannie E. Fields, our county superintendent of common schools, has resigned her office in order that she may accept employment as teacher in the graded common school of West Liberty, which will begin about the first week in September. For more than three and a half years, last past, Miss Fields has been the educational head of the common schools of our county, and during the whole of that time she has devoted her entire time to the discharge of her official duties, and has worked unceasingly for a higher, more practical and more thorough education of all the children in our county. As a result of her earnest work and untiring efforts the standard of education in our county is higher than ever before, and our schools are more prosperous.

Miss Fields is a thorough scholar, a practical educator, a patient teacher. She is a young woman of gentle disposition, of high christian character and we very much fear that it will be a long time before we have another county superintendent who will measure up to the high ideals as fixed by Miss Fields along educational lines.—Morgan Co. News.

Be sure and take a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with you when starting on your trip this summer. It cannot be obtained on board the trains or steamers. Changes of water and climate often cause sudden attacks of diarrhoea, and it is best to be prepared. Sold by all dealers.

The Loafing Business.

My son, follow not into the footsteps of the loafer and make no example of him who is born tired, for verily I say unto you his business is overstocked. The seats on the corners are all taken and the whittling places are all occupied. It is better to saw wood at two bits a cord than whittle at a whittling match and amuse the government. My son, whilst thou hast in thy skull the sense of a jay bird, break away from the cigarette habit, for lo, thy breath stinketh like a glue factory, and thy mind is less intelligent than a store dummy. Yea, thou art a cipher with the rim knocked off.—Robert J. Bardette.

Last week the Sharpsburg World closed its seventeenth year of existence, and it looks as bright and new as ever. In fact, it is just as handsome as "a sweet girl graduate of just sixteen."

Learned men tell us that in Latin the word "editor" means something "to eat." In this section its meaning is altogether different. Here it means to scratch around like blazes to get something to eat.

Indications point to an extremely quiet election in Nicholas county next fall, as it is believed there will be only one ticket in the field. The Republicans say they will make no nominations for county offices.

The Democrats of Wolfe county are requested to meet at the court house in Campton next Saturday, August 14, for the purpose of selecting a candidate for Representative of the 91st Legislative district, composed of the counties of Morgan and Wolfe. A full attendance is desired.

The life of an editor was saved the other day by a silver dollar in his pocket. A crank shot at him and the ball struck the dollar. Now should we happen to get shot before you pay up your subscription and there is no dollar to stop the ball we shall always presume you might have saved our life.

When the digestion is all right, the action of the bowels regular, there is a natural craving and relish for food. "If you are a kicker and see the shadows of failure in everything that is proposed to help the town, for heaven's sake go into some secluded canyon and kick your own shadow on the clay bank, and give the men who are working to build up the town a chance. One long-faced, hollow-eyed, whining carping, chronic kicker can do more to keep away business and capital from a town than all the drouths, short crops, chinch bugs, cyclones and blizzards combined."—Ex.

The above is especially applicable to those who are just now retarding development of this section by their refusal to grant the right of way to the Mountain Central and they must realize that their neighbors see them just as they are portrayed above. Can they afford to continue to stand in their own light and against their friends by kicking? We believe not.

The Revised Tariff Bill.

The tariff bill has been revised and the extraordinary session of congress has been brought to a close. The president after signing the bill added a postscript "signed five minutes after 5 o'clock, August 5, 1909. W. H. T." Following are the leading features of the new tariff bill:

Scrap iron, reduced from $4 to $1 a ton.

A New Scheme For Revenue.

A new scheme of government revenue has been devised by Representative Sisson, of Mississippi, and he feels confident that its adoption would bring millions into the treasury. He believes also that it would add materially to the average length of human life in this country. His scheme is to levy a tax of $2 and 25 per cent ad valorem on every revolver, dirk, stiletto, bowie knife or a pair of metal knuckles manufactured in or imported into this country. He proposes that there be a tax of one-fifth a cent each on cartridges according to size.

"I estimate," he says, "that the tax on weapons would produce about $1,500,000 and on cartridges $500,000 a year."

There's no use for a pistol or stiletto but to kill. Those who use them cause the government much expense and there is no reason why they should not contribute to the treasury. Tobacco, whisky and cards are subject to taxation and it would be well enough to add an assessment on the owners of deadly weapons. It would be better to tax pistols and not plows, cartridges and not corn planters.

FIVE FELL BELOW STANDARD.

Forty-Seven Took the Bar Examination at Austin.

Edna, Texas, Aug. 2, '09. Spencer Cooper, Hazel Green, Ky. Dear Sir: Enclosed herewith you will find a clipping which may be of some news interest to some of your readers. This article appeared in the Galveston News of July 28.

Many thanks for the kind mention you made of me in a recent edition of your paper. With best wishes, I remain,

Very truly yours,

E. T. ROSE.

Austin, Tex., July 27.—Out of forty-seven who took the last bar examination here under the State Board of Legal Examiners, only five fell below the required standard and will not get their licenses. The highest grade made was that of E. T. Rose, of Campton, Ky., who has been attending the State University at Austin, his average being 92.7-9. The man closest behind him was John A. Hancock, of Jasper, who averaged 92.3-9. The successful applicants were Huling P. Robertson, Jr., Temple; Chester B. Collins, Lufkin; Thornton H. Bowers, Caldwell; Sam R. Sayers, Lufkin; Henry S. Groesbeck, San Antonio; Robert W. Cowen, Mart; W. E. J. Holmes, Wylie; William F. Duncan; Lewis H. Jones, Burnet; Frank Willford, Jr., Houston; A. C. Wood, Huntsville; V. B. Goar, Johnson City; John A. Holmes, Bonham; Jesse C. Shipman, Hamilton; J. M. Brown, Fort Worth; E. T. Rose, Campton, Ky.; Ira C. Ogden, San Antonio; Leon Harp, San Angelo; W. D. Taylor, Waco; Clyde A. Williams, Niles; Wayne Davis, Goliad; J. P. Farris, Palacios; J. L. Webb, Comstock; Chas. K. Bullard, Hamilton; Alfred S. John, Dallas; Guy N. Williams, Farmersville; John Davenport, Weatherford; John A. Hancock, Jasper; George H. McLaren, Graham; J. O. Lockett, Cleburne; T. J. Saunders, San Marcos; J. Oran Carter, Ennis; M. F. Cate, Terrell; W. H. Stewart, West; D. B. Tremmell, Jr., Fort Worth; A. D. Dyer, Holland; G. E. Lockhart, Gomez; W. P. Saunders, Waco; W. W. Alcorn, Montague; George D. Sears, Houston; Wm. L. Evans, Sherman; and A. Moodie, Fort Worth.

It is noticeable that these men come from all portions of the state and that a large number of them are students of the law school of the State University, who have not yet completed their work in that institution.

Senatorial Convention.

At a convention called for and held at Jackson, Breathitt county, Ky., on Wednesday, Aug. 4, 1909, for the purpose of nominating a Democratic candidate for the office of State Senator for the 34th Senatorial District, C. C. Fulk, of Wolfe county, was elected chairman, and C. W. Womack, of Morgan county, was made secretary.

On motion and by vote all committees except the committee on resolutions was dispensed with. The chair then appointed as committee on resolutions, O. H. Pollard, of Breathitt county; D. D. Sublett, of Magoffin county; H. N. Cox, of Morgan county; Jno. C. Rose, of Owsley county, and I. N. Horton, of Wolfe county.

The Hon. D. D. Sublett then placed in nomination Hon. E. E. Hogg, of Owsley county, as the Democratic candidate for State Senator in a forceful and eloquent address, and at the conclusion the nomination was made unanimous.

The committee on resolutions then reported the following resolutions, which were adopted:

1st. That we approve the call, time and place of the holding of this convention.

O. H. POLLARD, HENRY M. COX, JNO. C. ROSE, I. N. HORTON, D. D. SUBLETT.

On motion it was ordered that all the Democratic newspapers of the district be requested to publish these proceedings.

The convention then adopted the game cock in the act of crowing as the device of the nominee of this convention.

On motion the convention then adjourned.

Do You Get Up With a Lame Back?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everyone knows of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because of its remarkable health restoring properties. Swamp-Root fulfills almost every wish in overcoming rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night.

Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble, it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been thoroughly tested in private practice, and has proved so successful that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., One Doan's Building, Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all druggists. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Five Years of Heart Trouble Cured by Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy

"Before I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy I had been suffering from heart trouble for over five years. I had pains in my left side, and under my shoulder blade, could not sleep on the left side, and was so short of breath the least exertion would bring on the most distressing palpitation. I had scarcely taken a half bottle of the Heart Remedy before I could see a marked change in my condition. When I had taken six bottles I was cured."

MRS. C. C. GORKEY, Northfield, Va.

If there is fluttering or palpitation it is an indication of a weakness of the nerves and muscles of the heart. It is not necessarily diseased—just weak from over-work. The heart may be weak just the same as the eyes, stomach or other organs. You can make a weak heart strong by taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy. Get a bottle from your druggist, take it according to directions, and if it does not benefit he will return your money.

Does Not Color Hair

Ayer's Hair Vigor, as now made from our new improved formula, does not stain or color the hair even to the slightest degree. Gray hair, white hair, blonde hair is not made a shade darker. But it certainly does stop falling hair. No question about that.

Does not change the color of the hair.

Formula with each bottle. Show it to your doctor. Ask him about it. Then do as he says.

Indeed, we believe it will stop every case of falling hair unless there is some very unusual complication, something greatly affecting the general health. Then you should consult your physician. Also ask him about the new Ayer's Hair Vigor.

The Brewer well, at the foot of Laurel hill, developed a small amount of gas, but no oil. It was shot Saturday in the hope of increasing the supply of gas, but with what result we have not learned.

Bill Foreman, one of the men engaged in drilling the Brewer well and who aided in shooting it Saturday, says that it is one of the strongest, if not the strongest, gas wells that has been brought in in this section.

Sam Wilson spent last Wednesday night on his farm on Murphy fork and came back to town the following morning bringing with him a basket filled with luscious tomatoes and toothsome beans. He claims that he raised them, but if he did, he raised them from Mrs. Lizzie Cecil's truck patch early in the morning.

George Rice was visiting his son George, Jr., Sunday last, and says he found him still unable to work. Indeed, he is suffering all the time with something like kidney and stomach trouble. George is a model young farmer and has many friends in his own neighborhood, all of whom would be pleased to hear the glad news that he is well again. He is despondent over his condition, and if his friends will encourage him it will go far toward renewing his energy and health.

Fred J. Heintz, the manufacturing jeweler of Lexington, recently repaired a gold pen for the editor of this paper, and we desire to say that the work is in line with everything he turns out, and that means first class. Lee Caskey and wife, of Grassy Creek, will leave Monday for a three months' visit in the west and northwest. Their itinerary includes the states of Iowa, Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri. They have relatives living at Buford, Iowa; Sentinel, Okla.; Parker, Kansas, and in Missouri, and anticipate a royal time, in which their friends join in the hope.

Hon. Malone Lykins, who is a candidate for the Legislature in this (91st) district, passed through here Monday en route to Campton. The race seems to have narrowed down to two aspirants only, the other one being Capt. Bill Perry. The mass convention to nominate will be called at Campton and West Liberty Saturday.

Judge Adams and Kelly Kash were at the big meeting on Stillwater Sunday shaking hands and fixing their fences for the November election. But they are laboring in vain this time if the signs of the times read aright. The next judicial officers are likely to be from the Democratic family.

Teachers' Institute Resolutions.

In order that the public may have a more general understanding of our labors, and hoping to arouse a greater interest for the cause of education, now, therefore, we, the Public School teachers of Wolfe county, Kentucky, in Institute at Campton assembled, do publish the following resolutions:

1st—Resolved, That we approve of the time, place and manner of holding this Institute, and we extend to the citizens of the town of Campton our appreciation for the generosity and hospitality which they have extended to us while in their midst; and we further extend to them our thanks and appreciation for the interest they have manifested in the attendance thereof, and for the valuable suggestions that many of them have made during the sessions of our Institute.

2nd—Resolved, That, realizing the high responsibilities resting upon our worthy superintendent, and the many complex and intricate questions arising before him for solution, in appreciation of the happy and satisfactory manner in which he has met and disposed of every serious problem and discharged every duty, we extend to him our unbounded gratitude and congratulations; and we heartily approve, especially, of his wise and proper choice of an instructor for this Institute.

3rd—Resolved, That we are delighted to have the services of such a ripe scholar, unbiased instructor, broad and liberal minded educator and patriotic citizen as Prof. J. W. Dinsmore, of Berea College, and believe him to have few equals and no superiors as an Institute instructor; and we also very highly appreciate the presence of Mrs. Dinsmore and the valuable and cultured talks which she has given the Institute.

4th—Resolved, That we appreciate the services of our most efficient secretary, Miss Rose Coldiron, and of our accomplished and cultured musician, Miss Stella Manker.

5th—Resolved, That, deploring the fact that our own dear Kentucky occupies an unenviable position in the sisterhood of American states, educationally, and realizing that every teacher and every citizen in the state has a high duty to perform in raising the standard of education, we believe it to be the best interest of all and to be the surest and quickest method to advance our educational interests among the people at large to have enacted and enforced such a compulsory school educational law as will reach both pupil and parent and will force a uniform attendance in our public schools of all children between the ages of 6 and 14 years for at least three months regular attendance, annually.

6th—Resolved, That we heartily recommend an extension of the school term throughout the state from six months to seven months, annually, believing that the present per capita is reasonably sufficient to compensate the teacher for such extension.

7th—Resolved, That, being conscious of the great educational awakening throughout Kentucky, we will put forth all our best efforts to aid in the great educational movement, and will do our utmost to advance the day and hour when intelligence shall be the goal of the youth's ambition, and we pledge ourselves jointly and severally to do our most to keep abreast of the best and most approved methods of teaching.

8th—Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be published in the HAZEL GREEN HERALD, the Breathitt County News and the Southern School Journal, J. E. CHILDERS, BESSIE LEE HOLLON, MARY E. FAULKNER, Committee on Resolutions.

Resolutions of Respect.

Hall of Mizpah Lodge, No. 507, F. & A. M.

Hazel Green, Ky., Aug. 5, 1909. It seems that it was the will and pleasure of the Grand Master of the Universe to remove from the transitory scenes of this earthly existence to a state of endless duration our beloved Brother John W. Craven, who responded to the summons of the death angel who invaded the portals of our temple on the 21st day of June, 1909, and called for Brother Craven, who immediately answered the call by laying aside his trowel and the temporal trestle board to take them up again in that spiritual temple above whose builder and maker is God; Therefore be it resolved.

1st—That in the death of Brother John W. Craven the fraternity has lost a true and zealous Mason; the church a consistent member; the community an honorable citizen, and his family a devoted husband and loving father.

2nd—That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the lodge and a copy be sent to the Masonic Home Journal and the HAZEL GREEN HERALD for publication and a copy sent to the family of the deceased.

KENTUCKY KERNELS

Carefully Collated and Concisely Chronicled.

Lewis and Mason counties were visited by a severe hail and wind storm last Thursday and about 60 per cent of the growing tobacco was destroyed.

During a religious meeting at Dunaway Chapel, in Clark county, Napoleon B. Devary shot and killed Harvey Ewing. Devary claims self-defense.

Ike C. Smith, former gambler and saloon keeper of Louisville, who received twenty-five knife wounds in his body died in a hospital without divulging the name of his assailant.

As a result of too much curiosity in the handling and examination of an old revolver, George Miles, a negro boy aged about 16 years and a resident of the negro suburb of Paris, is dead with a bullet hole through the brain.

Alpheus Ring, foreman of Hagemeyer saw mill, at Butler, in Pendleton county, escaped a fatal injury the other day. He was caught by the shafting and was nearing his death when his light summer clothing gave way and his life saved.

As the result of injuries sustained three years ago while guarding a prisoner James Welsh, a Louisville policeman, died at his home last week. The prisoner in attempting to make his escape struck Welsh a heavy blow in the stomach.

Governor Willson last week refused to pardon a number of Lawrence and Leslie county convicts so they could go home and vote at the Republican primaries. His reasons were that "convicts who happen to be Republicans are not all 'good' Republicans."

George Sizemore committed suicide last week at Gullett, in Magoffin county, by jumping into a well head foremost and dashing out his brains. He was a brother to Polk Sizemore who committed suicide in Morgan county about six months ago by shooting himself.

While digging a trench at the Washington creamery, in Mason county, workmen unearthed an old tin can which contained $75 in gold. The coins bear dates preceding the civil war and it is thought that the money was buried by parties who lived on the premises during the war.

A barn on the farm of Stokes Highfield, in Pendleton county, was struck by lightning in a recent storm and burned to the ground. A lot of hay and potatoes in the barn were destroyed. Mrs. G. W. Ballenger, Jr., of the same neighborhood, had a valuable horse killed by lightning while grazing in a field.

While driving a two-year-old mare to a break cart, near Paris, the animal became frightened at some obstruction and made a dash to get away when her driver, John Wiggins, held her in check, the mare rearing up and falling backwards, breaking her neck. Mr. Wiggins was uninjured though the horse came near falling on him.

During an electrical storm in Richmond, last Thursday, three buildings in different parts of the city were fired by lightning at nearly the same moment. The fire department fought all three at intervals, thus saving adjoining property. Stanifer & Sopher, clothing merchants on Main street, a big livery and feed barn, and a dwelling house in the negro section were the losses.

Andrew Coons, a prominent farmer of Daviess county, was instantly killed by lightning last week. He was standing near a threshing machine with a crowd of men in a field when a flash caused Walter Cook, on whose farm the men had just completed threshing and were preparing to pull up, to be knocked to the ground but was uninjured. Mr. Coons, who was standing near by, received the full shock and was instantly killed.

Executive clemency was extended to the Rev. W. E. Honeycut, of Jackson county, who moved from Ohio to Kentucky and performed a marriage ceremony without first taking out a license; to do so, as required by the Kentucky statutes. As soon as the minister learned that he had violated the law, he went to the county judge and filed bond to answer to the charge, but the records do not show that he has been tried or even indicted.

Judge Walker Parker, in the Circuit court at Lexington last week, handed down a decision in which it is adjudged that the election held in that city November 5, 1907, at which Governor Willson and other state officials, as well as 26 officials of the city of Lexington, were voted for, is declared to be void. The decision, however, affects only the offices of Mayor John B. Skain, City Assessor John B. Doyle, City Attorney Wallace Muir and City Jailor John Manner, the other Republican contestants failing to have their pleas in readiness within the 60 days after the time of filing their petitions as the law requires.

THE STATE FAIR

Kentucky People All Agog
Over Coming Event.

A HANDSOME PRIZE LIST

Thirty Thousand Dollars Offered in Prizes for Week of September 13th to 18th.

Details of Some of the Chief Attractions to Be Presented This Year.

Thirty thousand dollars makes a very handsome prize list. This amount will be offered at the Seventh annual Kentucky State Fair, which is scheduled for the week of September 13th to 18th, inclusive. The marvelous piece of work accomplished in the incomparably short time of three months last season, in which the largest, most useful and most beautiful show pavilion in the world, and a permanent grand stand of steel and concrete construction were erected, a model half mile race track was built, and some forty or more buildings of a more temporary nature, for the housing of all livestock, agricultural, horticultural exhibits, etc., were completed, is fresh in the minds of those who witnessed last year's exhibition. With the addition of beautiful roadways, flower beds and installation of electric lights in the pavilion for the use of horse show and hippodrome performances in the evening, the grounds will present a grander and more brilliant spectacle this year. In nearly every department, the number of classes have been increased and more liberal prizes are offered. This is especially true in the beef, cattle and poultry departments, in each of which the total money offered is probably thirty per cent larger than last year.

The special prizes are much more attractive and represent a greater value than ever before. The honor and prestige of winning many of these trophies is infinitely greater than the intrinsic value of the prize itself. The specials listed include the "Highland Home" cup, which is donated by Gay Bros. of Pisgah, Ky., for the best and finest saddle bred foal of 1909; the American saddle horse breeders' association trophy for registered stallion or mare three years old or under; the Montgomery chief special of $225 offered by Ball Bros., Versailles, Ky., for the finest and best stallion, mare or gelding any age by Montgomery; Chief; the $1,000 Kentucky farmer's saddle horse futurity for saddle bred foals of 1909, the only saddle horse futurity in existence, which closed April 1st with 225 nominations; the commissioner of agriculture saddle horse special, value at $200 for the best five gaited saddle stallion, mare or gelding three years old or over; a handsome cup for the champion roadster given by Mr. Basil Doerhoefer of Louisville; the Dr. McChord cup for the best herd of jack stock offered by Mr. W. P. Hayes of Bloomfield, Ky.; the grand silver trophy offered by the American Berkshire Swine Association for best young herd of Berkshires exhibited by Kentucky breeder, which is the coveted honor of the show among Berkshire breeders in every state; an aggregate sum of nearly $400 given by Commissioner Rankin for all the leading standard varieties of poultry; a silver cup donated by Mr. F. H. Behring for best exhibit of Kentucky bred poultry; specials by the Southdown, Hampshire and Oxford Sheep Record Association for exhibits of pure-bred sheep they respectively champion; and the American Angora Goat Breeders' Association special for the best flock of registered Angora kids.

In the cattle departments the money consideration for specials is the greatest and the classification most extensive. The American Shorthorn Breeders' Association and the American Hereford Cattle Breeders' Association have each donated $750 for pure bred cattle of these respective breeds, one-half to be given in open competition and one-half to cattle owned by Kentucky exhibitors. These offers were made on condition that the State Fair management would set apart $1,000 in premiums for each of these breeds, which was done, thereby making a total of $1,750 for each breed. This is the largest amount ever offered for either Shorthorns or Herefords at any state fair or exposition south of the Ohio river, and perhaps equals the aggregate prize money at any exhibition in America this year with the exception of the national breed shows. The Polled Durham Association of America renews its offer of $100 in special prizes for Polled Durhams. The American Aberdeen Angus Breeders' Association, for the first time in several years, comes forward with a very liberal offer of $200 in specials for its breed. As a very gratifying innovation in the prize list, the Dairy Cattle Department contains some valuable specials. Through the generous liberality of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, the State Fair management has been enabled to double the amount of prize money for this dairy breed and to place its classification almost on a par with the Jersey, which has been the favorite dairy breed in the south ever since its importation to this country, and the Kentucky Jersey cattle club will give a cup valued at $50.00 for the best Jersey herd of one bull and four heifers under one year old, bred by a Kentucky exhibitor. There are also numerous specials offered by Hon. M. G. Rankin, commissioner of agricultural departments, the most prominent of which are for county exhibits, $150,000 being offered for the best and largest display of farm, garden and orchard products. This has been a very interesting and educational feature at many of the leading state fairs for a number of years and will undoubtedly prove a success and boon to agricultural interest of Kentucky.

Superintendents of Departments at the Kentucky State Fair.

As usual, most experienced and capable superintendents of departments have been appointed. R. H. Lillard, of Lawrenceburg, has for the third time been chosen superintendent of the horse department, and William Simmons, of Shepherdsville, will again be in charge of the mule exhibit. W. R. Moorman, Jr., of Glendene, is superintendent of beef cattle and Edgar Vaughn, of Shelbyville, will for the eighth consecutive year be superintendent in the dairy cattle department. Other superintendents reappointed, are Colonel H. L. Igleheart, of Morganfield, swine department; W. B. Middleton, of Shelbyville, sheep and goats; John H. Good, of Louisville, poultry and pigeons; H. C. Lovelace of Boston, field seed and grain; H. M. Froman, of Ghent, tobacco; Miss Evelyn Porter, of Louisville, woman's department; G. P. Rogers, of Smithland, farm implements and machinery; Prof. J. J. Hooper, of Lexington, students' judging contest, and H. L. Smyser, of Lyndon, speed department. Chas. Sholtz, Jr., of Louisville, is superintendent of vegetables and melons; Henry S. Adams, Eminence, of Horticulture; W. E. Bibb, North Pleasureville, of plants and flowers; and Lucien Becker, Winchester, of minerals and forestry. The assistant superintendents have also been named: for poultry and pigeons, W. B. Buford, of Nicholasville, and Robert H. Young, of Louisville; for vegetables and melons, J. A. Peake, of Louisville; for field seed and grain, Geo. D. Karsner, of Lexington; for horticulture, M. P. Johnson, of Buena Vista; for woman's department, Miss Eva McGrew, of Bayou, and Miss Alice Porter, of Louisville.

Heads of Departments of the Kentucky State Fair.

There are eighteen exhibit departments, which have been placed under the head of the various members of the state board of agriculture as follows: M. G. Rankin, of Frankfort, poultry and pigeons, plants and flowers and student's judging contest; Prof. M. A. Scovall of Lexington, beef cattle, dairy cattle and colts; G. N. McGrew, of Bayou, woman's department, farm implements and machinery, manufactured products; H. M. Beard, of Hardinsburg, sheep and goats and vegetables and melons; Gathrie M. Wilson, Bradstown, horses, mules and jack stock, speed department; Caldwell Norton, Louisville, swine; Desha Breckenridge, Lexington, education and art; William Addams, of Cynthia, field seed and grain and tobacco; Fred R. Blackburn, Stanton, horticulture, forestry and minerals.

Kentucky State Fair Races.

Horse racing will be a greater attraction than ever at the State Fair this year. At last year's fair it was demonstrated that a successful harness race meeting could be held on these grounds. The popularity of the sport was never more pronounced. Unusually fast time was made on the new half-mile track which has come to be regarded as one of the best half-mile courses in America. At the meeting last year the grand stand and the grounds adjacent to it were thronged by a surging mass of humanity every afternoon, eager to see every heat in every race, and not until the summary of the last race was hung up did the interest cease or enthusiasm dwindle.

The Kentuckians by nature has a fondness for horse racing. An opportunity for seeing his favorite sport will not be denied him at this year's fair. The early closing events show the largest list of entries ever recorded at the State Fair. These events are known as the Louisville Retail Merchants Association stake for 2:21 pacers, the Louisville Commercial Club stake for 2:20 trotters, and the Kentucky Brewers Association stake for 2:20 trotters. In addition to the stake races, there will be six purse and four gentlemen's road races. Purses entries close Sept. 6th. Entries for the cup race at twelve o'clock noon, the day before the race. The stake races will be on the three in five heat plan and the purse races on the two in three heat plan. There will also be two running races each day. This is destined to become one of the most popular training tracks in the country. This meeting fits into a very convenient circuit by following the Indiana State Fair and proceeding the Tennessee State Fair which is the initial meeting of the southern circuit of fairs and trotting meetings. The success of this year's meeting is already assured by the excellent list of stake entries, and the management is quite confident that all the purse races will fill satisfactorily.

CHAPTER XIII.

JIM was slow tonight. The big show was nearly over, yet many of the props used in the early part of the bill were still unloaded.

He was tinkering absently with one of the wagons in the back lot, and the men were standing about idly waiting for orders when Barker came out of the main tent and called to him sharply.

"Hey, there, Jim! What's your excuse tonight?"

"Excuse for what?" Jim crossed slowly to Barker.

"The cook tent was started half an hour late, and the sideshow too ain't loaded yet."

"Your wagons is on the bum; that's what! No. 38 carries the cook tent, an' the blacksmith has been tinkering with it all day. Ask him what shape it's in."

"You're always stallin'," was Barker's sullen complaint. "It's the wagons or the blacksmiths or anything but the truth. I know what's the matter, all right."

"What do you mean by that?" asked Jim sharply.

"I mean that all your time's took up a-carryin' and a-fetchin' for that girl what calls you 'Muvver Jim.'"

"What have you got to say about her?" Jim eyed him with a threatening look.

"I got a plenty," said Barker as he turned to snap his whip at the small boys who had stolen into the back lot to peek under the rear edge of the big top. "She's been about as much good as a sick cat since she come back. You saw her act last night."

"Yes," answered Jim doggedly.

"Wasn't it punk? She didn't show at all this afternoon; said she was sick. And me with all them people inside what knowed her waitin' to see her?"

"Give her a little time," Jim pleaded. "She ain't rode for a year."

"Time!" shouted Barker. "How much does she want? She's been back a month, and instead of bracin' up she's a-gettin' worse. There's only one thing for me to do."

"What's that?" asked Jim uneasily.

"I'm goin' to call her, and call her hard."

"Look here, Barker," and Jim squared his shoulders as he looked steadily at the other man, "you're boss here, and I takes orders from you, but if I catches you abusin' Polly your bein' boss won't make no difference."

"You can't bluff me," shouted Barker. "I ain't bluffin'. I'm only tellin' you."

said Jim very quietly.

"Well, you tell her to get on to her job. If she don't, she quits; that's all."

He hurried into the ring.

Jim took one step to follow him, then stopped and gazed at the ground with thoughtful eyes. He, too, had seen the change in Polly. He had tried to rouse her. It was no use. She had looked at him blankly. "If she would only complain," he said to himself; "if she would only get mad, anything, anything to wake her." But she did not complain. She went through her daily routine very humbly and quietly. She sometimes wondered how Jim could talk so much about her work, but before she could answer the question her mind drifted back to other days, to a garden and flowers, and Jim folded away unmissed and left her with folded hand and wide, staring eyes, gazing into the distance.

"Star gazin', Poll?" he asked.

The memory of these times made Jim helpless tonight. He had gone on hoping from day to day that Barker might not notice the "let down" in her work, and now the blow had fallen. How could he tell her?

One of the acts came tumbling out of the main tent. There was a moment's confusion as clowns, acrobats and animals passed each other on their way to and from the ring; then the lot cleared again, and Polly came slowly from the dressing tent. She looked very different from the little girl whom Jim had led away from the parson's garden in a simple white frock one month before. Her thin, pensive face contrasted oddly with her glittering attire. Her hair was knotted high on her head and intertwined with flowers and jewels. Her slender neck seemed scarcely able to support its burden. Her short, full skirt and low cut bodice were ablaze with white and colored stones.

"What's on, Jim?" she asked. "The 'let o' death.' You got plenty of time."

Polly's mind went back to the girl who answered that call a year ago. Her spirit seemed very near tonight. The band stopped playing. Barker made his grandiloquent announcement about the wonderful act about to be seen, and her eyes wandered to the distant church steeple. The moonlight seemed to shun it tonight. It looked cold and grim and dark. She wondered whether the solemn bell that once called its flock to worship had become as mute as her own dead heart. She did not hear the whir of the great machine inside the tent as it plunged through space with its girl occupant. These things were a part of the daily routine, part of the strange, vague dream through which she must stumble for the rest of her life.

Jim watched her in silence. Her face was turned from him. She had forgotten his presence.

"Star gazin', Poll?" he asked at length, dreading to disturb her reverie. "I guess I was, Jim." She turned to him with a little, forced smile. He longed to save her from Barker's threatened rebuke.

"How you feelin' tonight?"

"I'm all right," she answered cheerfully.

"Anything you want?" "Want?" She turned upon him with startled eyes. There was so much that she wanted that the mere mention of the word had opened a well of pain in her heart.

"I mean can I do anything for you?" "Oh, of course not," She remembered how little any one could do.

"What is it, Poll?" he begged, but she only turned away and shook her head with a sigh. He followed her with anxious eyes. "What made you cut out the show today? Was it because you didn't want to ride afore folks what knowed you—ride afore him mebbe?"

"Him?" Her face was white. Jim feared she might swoon. "You don't mean that he was?"

"Oh, no," he answered quickly, "of course not. Parsons don't come to places like this one. I was only figurin' that you didn't want other folks to see an' to tell him how you was ridin'."

She did not answer.

"Was that it, Poll?" he urged.

"I don't know," she stared into space.

"Was it?"

"I guess it was," she said after a long time.

"I knowed it," he cried. "I was a fool to 'a' brung you back! You don't belong with us no more."

"Oh, don't, Jim! Don't! Don't make me feel I'm in the way here too!"

"Here too?" He looked at her in astonishment. "You wasn't in his way, was you, Poll?"

"Yes, Jim." She saw his look of unbelief and continued hurriedly. "Oh, I tried not to be! I tried so hard. He used to read me verses out of a Bible about my way being his way and my people his people, but it isn't so, Jim. Your way is the way you are born, and your people are the people you are born with, and you can't change it, Jim, no matter how hard you try."

"You was changin' it," he answered savagely. "You was gettin' jes' like them people. It was me what took you away an' spoiled it all. You oughtn't to 'a' come. What made you after you said you wouldn't?"

She did not answer. Strange things were going through the mind of the slow witted Jim. He braced himself for a difficult question.

"Will you answer me somethin' straight?" he asked.

"Why, of course," she said as she met his gaze.

"Do you love the parson, Poll?"

She started.

"Is that it?"

Her lids fluttered and closed; she caught her breath quickly, her lips apart, then looked far into the distance.

"Yes, Jim, I'm afraid that's it." The little figure drooped, and she stood before him with lowered eyes, unarmed. Jim looked at her helplessly, then shook his big, stupid head.

"Ain't that b—?"

It seemed such a short time to Jim since he had picked her up, a cooling babe, at her dead mother's side. He watched the tender, averted face. Things had turned out so differently from what he had planned.

"An' he don't care about you—like that?" he asked after a pause.

"No, not in that way." She was anxious to defend the pastor from even the thought of such a thing. "He was good and kind always, but he didn't care that way. He's not like that."

"I guess I'll have a talk with him," said Jim, and he turned to go.

"Talk?" she cried.

He stopped and looked at her in astonishment. It was the first time that he had ever heard that sharp note in her voice. Her tiny figure was stiffened with decision. Her eyes were blazing.

"If you ever dare to speak to him—about me, you'll never see me again."

Jim was perplexed.

"I mean it, Jim. I've made my choice, and I've come back to you. If you ever try to fix up things between him and me, I'll run away—really and truly away—and you'll never, never get me back."

He shuffled awkwardly to her side and reached apologetically for the little clinched fist. He held it in his big rough hand, toying nervously with the tiny fingers.

"I wouldn't do nothin' that you wasn't a-wantin', Poll. I was just a-tryin' to help you, only I-I never seem to know how."

She turned to him with tear dimmed eyes and rested her hands on his great, broad shoulders, and he saw the place where he dwelt in her heart.
